

Sean F. Dalton has served as Gloucester County Prosecutor since 2002. He is currently serving as President of the County Prosecutor Association of New Jersey for the 2014-2015 term. Since 2007, Prosecutor Dalton is the CPANJ designee to the New Jersey Child Fatality and Near Fatality Review Board to identify prevention issues and procedures statewide.

Under Prosecutor Dalton's leadership, the Gloucester County Prosecutor Office has expanded the services provided to our communities. He has initiated a Cyber Crimes unit to address the issues of cyber stalking and child pornography. To address the increasing number of combat veterans involved in the criminal justice system, he has formed a Veterans Initiative to screen these cases and provide services to the veteran population. An Arson Unit was formed to work with fire personnel as well as an Intelligence Unit to assist local law enforcement with the identification of violent offenders within their communities.

During his tenure, Prosecutor Dalton has promoted a philosophy of community involvement within the law enforcement community. He has formed several public-private partnerships such as the Gloucester/Salem County Security Initiative, Gloucester County Anti-Crime Partnership and the Gloucester County Mental Health Committee. Prosecutor Dalton has also reopened old homicide investigations dating back to 1972 resulting in the arrest and conviction of individuals for the 1979 murder of Rose Twells and the 1998 murder of Charles Mosley.

A Glassboro native, Sean Dalton graduated from Glassboro High School. He obtained a degree from James Madison University. In 1987, he graduated from the University of Bridgeport School of Law and thereafter completed a judicial clerkship with the Honorable Donald A. Smith in Woodbury, New Jersey.

In 1993, Prosecutor Dalton was elected to the New Jersey General Assembly serving parts of Gloucester and Camden Counties. In 1995, he was re-elected to the General Assembly, for a second term. He was elected by his colleagues as an Associate Minority Leader for the General Assembly. He has also served as Municipal Prosecutor for the Boroughs of Glassboro and Paulsboro as well as First Assistant County Counsel for the County of Gloucester.

Prosecutor Dalton has followed in a long family history of public service. He is the youngest son of the former Glassboro Mayor, Bill Dalton, and the younger brother of the former Secretary of State and New Jersey State Senator, Daniel Dalton. He is a lifelong resident of Gloucester County. Sean and his wife, Victoria, have two children and reside in Elk Township.
